A CONUNDRUM.

The male prostitutes and their newspaper organ profess themselves jubilant over the fact that Fanny Davenport has been arrested in Denver and is to be brought back to this city. Fanny Davenport is the woman for illicitly consorting with whom an official of the Federal Court was recently arrested, but who was not brought to trial because the Chief Justice held that he could not be prosecuted under the municipal ordinance. It is common rumor that other men have also held improper relations with the Davenport woman and that so far as they are known they are to be arrested and tried for the offense against morality and the law—or, rather they would have been so arrested and tried had it not been for the ruling of the Chief Justice denying the validity of the ordinance. The woman left town about the time of the late arrests, was traced to Denver, where it seems she was arrested by order of Marshal Ireland. Upon what charge she was arrested has not yet appeared, and nobody outside the select circle seems to understand for what purpose she is being returned to the scene of her alleged triumph over the virtues of virtuous and highly moral court officials and anti-Mormons. There is talk of "perjury," but so far as we can learn the woman has sworn to nothing, hence there can be no perjury in the business. Then it is said she is to be prosecuted for "conspiracy," whatever that may mean; again it is hinted that she is going to "sue" on somebody, and so it goes, the popular ignorance as to the reason for her return being dense in the extreme. THE HERALD freely confesses its inability to understand why those who are interesting themselves to bring her back should desire her presence at this time; it occurs to us that she is one of the persons that they would prefer to have out of the way just now. However, she is en route, or has already arrived, and we may soon learn for what purpose she has been brought back.

THE HERALD is glad the woman has been found, and hopes she will tell all she knows. The information that she possesses would make "mighty interesting reading" in these times. We are also glad of her capture because it will give a better opportunity to punish the guilty; and if any innocent persons have been falsely accused by her or others, they can be relieved of the suspicion and their accusers punished.

Since the above was in type it has been learned that Fanny Davenport and Mrs. Field, the woman who is said to have led the virtuous Deputy Marshal Vandercok from the path of virtue and marital rectitude, have reached the city and are being closely guarded by a couple of United States deputy marshals. It is hardly necessary to remark that Vandercok is not one of the guards. The charge upon which the women were arrested in Denver and brought to this city for trial, is keeping houses of prostitution. For once THE HERALD finds itself in a position to commend the zeal of Marshal Ireland. We are glad to be able to note that this officious individual has taken a stand against sexual immorality outside the marriage relation, and that the Governor who issued the requisition, the Judge who issued the warrant, the District Attorney who drew the complaint, the deputy marshals who have shown so much courage and energy, and the newspaper which has hitherto been the recognized organ of the prostitutes, male and female, are all so deeply interested in punishing those guilty of lewdness. We shall hope that at last the time has come when the Federal officials and the local authorities can work together harmoniously in rooting out a vice that is said to have been increasing frightfully during late years.

We confess that Mr. Ireland and associates have gone about their work rather clumsily and in a way to excite suspicion that they were working in the interest of the morals of Denver rather than for the benefit of those of Salt Lake. As these alleged lewd women had gone from the city and in all probability would never have returned, the town would naturally have been better off had they been left away; but we presume the Marshal wanted to strike terror into the hearts of other keepers of bad houses, and also desired to protect Denver. Of course he will at once follow these arrests by arresting the keepers of houses of prostitution in the city. There are said to be several of these, and it should not be difficult for the Marshal and his deputies to learn their names and obtain convicting evidence as to the character of their establishments. Judge Zane counts much on street rumor and common repute, hence he would not be hard to satisfy in the matter of testimony.

If Marshal Ireland and associates in bringing the Davenport and Field women to Salt Lake are really sincere in their desire to punish them for the misdemeanor of keeping houses of prostitution, there is indeed hope of a purer atmosphere for this city and for Utah. Who will be the next woman of the town against whom Mr. Ireland will proceed?

THERE is before the Court of Appeals at Frankfort, Ky., one of the strongest cases that was ever found in a court of justice. Thomas Haley died intestate, in 1883, leaving an estate worth $40,000. He had two wives living and one dead, the latter being the second in the order of marriage. He left children as follows: by the first wife, five; by the second, four, and by the third, six. In 1847, after the birth of three children by his first wife, he obtained a decree of divorce from her on the ground of adultery; he thereupon married a second wife, but lived illicitly with the first, by whom he had Margaret, the third wife. The second wife died, when the first had the divorce proceedings set aside and the case reopened, but a final adjustment was never had. When the daughter Margaret arrived at years of discretion she was regularly married to her father with the full knowledge and consent of the mother. All this nasty and incestuous business is brought out by the children of the first wife claiming to be heirs at law to the estate, while the children of the other two marriages claim the property as lawful heirs. The papers are publishing all of the disgusting details. Such a case could occur only in lawless Kentucky.

THE GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, announces that he is in favor of the establishment of a telegraph system for the whole country, and that he will introduce a bill for the purpose. The only objection that can be raised to the proposition is that it will mean further centralization and greatly increase the government patronage. This objection would be good were it not for the fact that the benefits would so greatly overbalance the evils that the people would lose sight of the assumption on the part of the central government. Besides, the business would not be improper for the nation, as telegraphing is a legitimate adjunct of the postal system against the government control of which no one protests. We have cheap postal rates—the cheapest in the world, considering the distances over which mails are transported; and with equal propriety we could as well have cheap telegraphing. The government can carry on the business at less expense than a private company, and besides would relieve the public from the heavy tax which it is compelled to pay to a monopoly. As to the matter of the extra patronage that it would throw into the hands of government, that would be trifling. The argument against the government telegraph could be applied in favor of remanding the carriage and distribution of the mails to private parties, a thing to which no sane person would consent.

THE ORDINARY, unsophisticated individual would think it strange that a couple of women, weak and harmless, should be closely guarded night and day by two stalwart Deputy Marshals, while a man who shoots another down in the road is allowed his liberty, but then the aforesaid U. S. doesn't always understand there are wheels within wheels, and that some officials are more peculiar than others.

Feeble Frames, Shaky Nerves

And dyspeptic stomachs are usually found in conjunction. Vitality is lacking in all three. How can this be created? Simply by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters with regularity, abstaining from habits inconsistent with health, and by the use of a digestible diet. As an initial step toward the reformation of a depleted system, a resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is most desirable, since it corrects acidity consequent upon the vitiation of the gastric juices and the presence of bile in the stomach, and having regulated and, as it were, lubricated the digestive mechanism, sets it to work. An immediate gain in vigor is the result. The food is converted into blood, upon which the system draws for nutrition, and the nerves as they acquire vigor become tranquil, the muscular fibre gains substance and hardens, and appetite and sleep improve. Constipation, fever and ague, rheumatism and renal ailments yield to the Bitters.

To Neutralize Offensiveness.

Impure breath, caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits or catarrh, is neutralized by SOZODONT. 'Tis a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentifrice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as a fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will be no longer noticed.

Contagious

Diseases are Prevalent all over the World.

I am a native of England, and while I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood poison, and for two years was under treatment as an out-door patient at No. 10, St. James Hospital, England, but was not cured. I suffered the most agonizing pains in my bones, and was covered with sores all over my body and limbs. I had vertigo and deafness, with partial loss of sight, even in my head and eyes, etc., which nearly ran me crazy. I lost all hope in that country, and sailed for America, and was treated at Roosevelt in this city, as well as by a prominent physician in New York having no connection with the hospitals. I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific, and I determined to give it a trial. I had given up all hope of being cured, as I had gone through the hands of the best medical men in Nottingham and New York. I took six bottles of Swift's Specific, and I am now as sound and well as I ever was in my life.

New York City, June 12th, 1885.

Blood

In the life, and he is wise who remembers it. But in March of last year (1884), I contracted blood poison, and being in Savannah, Ga., at the time I went into the hospital there for treatment. I suffered very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there, nor was I cured by any of the usual means. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's Specific, and I am now as sound and well as I ever was in my life. I am a sound and well as I ever was in my life.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 7, 1885.

TWO YEARS AGO I contracted blood poison after taking prescriptions from the best physicians here and at Dallas, I concluded to visit Hot Springs and on reaching Texas I saw a doctor recommended me to try Swift's Specific, and after using it I would benefit me more than Hot Springs. Although the had produced great holes in my back and neck, and had eaten all the hair off my head, yet I began to improve in a week's time, and the sores began to heal, and were entirely gone inside of eight weeks. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's Specific, and I am now as sound and well as I ever was in my life. I am a sound and well as I ever was in my life.
